

Patient Access Support

HOW IT WORKS FOR YOU

A growing number of commercial insurance companies cover NavDx® testing. However, the coverage does vary based on the insurance type and service type. NavDx testing is a covered benefit for Medicare patients when monitoring for HPV-positive anal or oropharyngeal cancer recurrence. For example, Medicare covers four tests annually during OPSCC recurrence surveillance in the first two years post-treatment, and two tests annually thereafter, up to five years post-treatment.

Ensuring Access to the NavDx Test

Naveris is committed to ensuring patients have access to NavDx testing by providing patient support services as well as financial assistance to those who qualify. Naveris manages the process by:

- ◆ Submitting a claim to your insurance plan from the information that you provide to Naveris
- ◆ Helping interpret the explanation of benefits (EOB) that you will receive from your insurance plan
- ◆ Helping appeal a claim when denied by your insurance plan

NAVERIS®cares Financial Assistance Program

Naveris is committed to ensuring that the cost of NavDx testing is not a barrier to testing. You are only financially responsible for your insurance plan-associated costs for the NavDx test (such as coinsurance and deductibles). You may qualify for financial assistance with your out-of-pocket expenses through the Naveris Cares Program. To be considered, please submit an application.
